

Quick Pay

www.globalcollect.com

Western Union has provided person to person money transfer services for more than 150 years now. In 1871, the first electronic money transaction was processed and since then it had been the pioneer in the industry.

GlobalCollect now enables its Merchants to accept Western Union Quick Pay payments on their webshop through WebCollect. This payment product was specifically designed for processing cash transactions between Consumers and online businesses. When a Consumer chooses to pay via Quick Pay, they are provided with an online Quick Pay form, pre-filled and completed with their payment details. The Consumer then prints the form and physically pays via cash at any Western Union Quick Pay-enabled office.

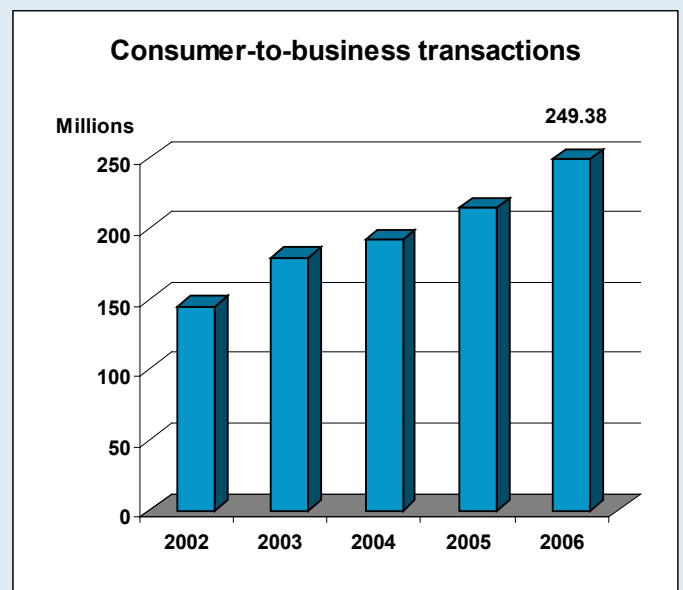

Advantages

- Western Union is one of the most recognized global brands in the world. Merchants can harness the power of the Western Union brand through displaying the logo on their websites and payment pages.

- 250 million consumer-to-business transaction were processed in 2006
- Access to a larger pool of customers by tapping into non-credit card holders or those who prefer using cash
- Attractive to Merchants in developing countries with low credit card penetration.
- Gain a competitive advantage by offering another payment channel in countries with low card penetration.
- No chargebacks are possible.

About Western Union Quick Pay

Western Union's consumer-to-business transactions have shown an increase of 16% in 2006. Being the second biggest subdivision, the segment represents around 15% of Western Union's revenues. With over 150 thousand agents across the globe, the method has the potential for wide use with online payments worldwide.

In 2006, $636 million US Dollars were processed, representing both off- as well as online payments in addition to other consumer-to-business Western Union methods.

How does it work?

The payment process for Western Union Quick Pay transactions is similar to other cash payment methods. It is a Consumer push payment, which relies on the Consumer physically visiting an outlet to make the cash payment. Once the payment is made, a payment confirmation is provided real-time, while the funding can take 48 hours.

Payment Process

Step 1: The Consumer places an order on the Merchant's website and chooses to pay by Western Union Quick Pay.

Step 2: The Shopper is then presented with a Western Union Quick Pay slip, pre-filled by GlobalCollect, in a popup window. The Customer is asked to print the slip and physically complete the payment at any Western Union Quick Pay office.

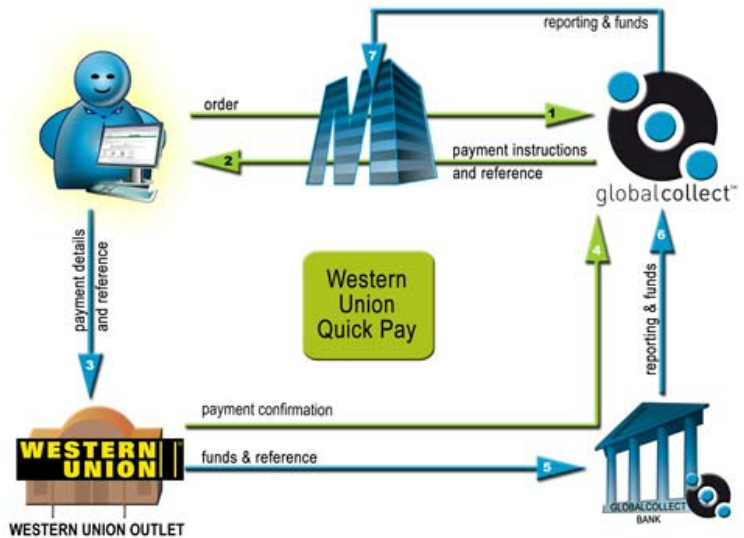

Step 3: To complete the payment, the Consumer must visit any Western Union Quick Pay office and present his already pre-filled Quick Pay form with the payment amount in cash. The customer may be asked to complete an additional Quick Pay form at the office, this additional form will only serve as a reference.

Step 4: When the payment is made at Western Union, a real-time confirmation of completed payment is sent to GlobalCollect. The status is in turn communicated to the Merchant.

Step 5: The funds are transferred within 48 hours of a completed payment to GlobalCollect.

Step 6: GlobalCollect matches the order to the completed payment on the basis of the customer's unique account number.

Step 7: GlobalCollect remits the collected payments into the Merchant's bank account. It also provides online and offline daily reports informing the Merchant on the payments received. Payment status is always available in the PaymentConsole.

What does it look like?

When Consumers choose Western Union Quick Pay as their preferred payment method, they are presented with a pre-filled Quick Pay payment slip in a popup window. The form will need to be printed, and next, they will need to visit any Western Union Quick Pay office to physically make the payment. Upon presenting the slip, Consumers will be charged an additional initial fee for processing the payment.
